BROWN BEARS

Furry behemoths that look very slow.

boar

The bear hibernates in winter, but it wakes up several times. It loses

Newborn bear cubs are naked, blind, deaf, protecting their aggressive!

cub

It makes a low snarl that won't stop them from getting it!

Fun fact

Black bears make a soft bed for themselves from dry grass and twigs. However, they are better swimmers and climbers than their brown counterparts.

What do bears eat?

berries

fruit

grass

mushrooms

roots

carrion

other animals

fish

honey

ants, moths, larvae

The Raccoon...

- is called a washing-bear in many languages, but it is not a bear.
- washes its food before eating it.
- is agile, fast, and excellent at climbing trees.
- is instantly recognisable by its bandit mask.

A brown bear can grow as tall as three metres!

Where do bears live?

Bears hibernate for the winter in their dens. Cubs are born here, protected in the hollows of giant trees or between the roots, in the shelter of trees uprooted by the wind, in rock crevices or caves.
